Dec. 17--ATA Airlines founder J. George Mikelsons was driving to Chicago from Indianapolis when the life-saving phone call came through for his troubled airline.

Longtime acquaintance Herb Kelleher, chairman of Southwest Airlines, called to ask, "Mind if I throw my hat in the ring and perhaps make a better offer?" Mikelsons remembered. That call a few weeks ago led to the deal confirmed Thursday in which Southwest won the bankruptcy auction of ATA gates at busy Chicago Midway.

Nov. 17--The parent of ATA Airlines burned through more than $1 million of its cash reserves every day in the quarter ended Sept. 30, racking up losses of $30.9 million in the latest three-month period.

In its first quarterly report since filing for Chapter 11 bankruptcy reorganization on Oct. 26, ATA Holdings Corp. said its losses this year through September totaled $120.9 million.

However, the bleak financial report could bear on upcoming bankruptcy hearings where some creditors wary of ATA's proposed reorganization say they may argue the company is stable enough to operate into next year. That would give creditors time to explore options such as breaking up ATA Holdings and auctioning off the pieces.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.--Out on Albuquerque's dusty mesa at Double Eagle II Airport, Eclipse Aviation plans to revolutionize the market for business travel in the next five years by producing twin-engine six-seat jets for under $1 million each.

If the firm can deliver its Eclipse 500 on time and at a target price around $850,000, the company expects that it will lead to 2,000 new jobs at a state-of-the-art manufacturing plant at the West Side airport by 2007. But several people knowledgeable about the business jet industry have a big question: Will the market be ready for Eclipse?

ABSTRACT: An increasing number of Americans are regular fliers, the motor carrier industry has grown at a remarkable rate, and rail freight rates have dropped dramatically. Indeed, it would be difficult to imagine the past 2 decades of economic growth without the dramatic improvement in transportation rates and service. Decontrol of the transportation industries has demonstrated that the market works much better free from government controls than with government oversight. The government should free freight railroads from the remaining constraints on that industry. Only the private industry can possibly run a profitable passenger train system, and then only if free from government controls on labor and pricing.

Five-star winner: The Mandarin Oriental San Francisco has achieved the coveted Mobil Travel Guide Five-Star Award for the third consecutive year. The 158-room hotel is the only one in San Francisco and one of only 25 hotels in North America to earn the hospitality industry's most distinguished award. The Mobil Travel Guide Five-Star award indicates that a property is one of the best in the country, an award spokesman said. The Mobil Travel Guide ratings are based on anonymous visits by senior staff evaluators, published reviews and thousands of letters from guide users. www.mandarinoriental.com Access Asia: Malaysia Airlines is offering an AccessAsia Pass that lets passengers fly to any or all of 24 destinations in Southeast Asia for a low fare of US$747 per person. Price includes return economy-class tickets between Los Angeles and Kuala Lumpur, plus economy-class travel to any or all of 23 other cities included in the promotion within a 30-day period. To add cities in Australia, India, New Zealand and South Africa passengers must pay an extra fee. Passengers can also upgrade or extend the 30-day period for a special rate. Travel dates are between now and May 31 or August 15 to November 15. A US$150 surcharge will apply for travel between June 1 and August 14 or between November 16 and January 14. www.malaysiaairlines.com Package benefits: Shangri-La Rasa Ria Resort in Kota Kinabalu has special room rates including breakfast starting from S$85 (about HK$361) in a superior Room to US$95 in a deluxe room. Special meeting packages per person per day start from US$27 for a full day or from US$24 for a half-day. Package benefits include two coffee/tea breaks with two types of snack and daily lunch. These rates are valid until June 30 and room rates are applicable for both single and double occupancy. www.eventclicks.com

Schedule change: Air New Zealand has altered its international flight schedule with most changes taking effect in March and April. The carrier will add an extra flight on the Auckland-Cairns route bringing its service to two times per week. The Auckland-Brisbane service will increase from eight to 10 flights per week; the Wellington-Brisbane route from five flights per week to daily services; and the Christchurch-Brisbane route will rise from six flights per week to eight (effective in July). As part of Air NZ's normal schedule adjustment for the Northern Hemisphere summer, it will decrease a number of long-haul services to Honolulu and Los Angeles. However, the Auckland-Tokyo service will increase from five times per week to daily and two of these flights will operate via Osaka. The Auckland-Taipei route will decrease from three flights per week to two. The Auckland-Hong Kong route will be cut back from daily flights to five times per week. www.airnewzealand.com Saipan break: Continental Holidays is offering Saipan Lunar New Year packages. Benefits include return economy-class tickets with Continental Airlines, hotel accommodation, airport transfers and breakfast. Prices vary depending on the choice of hotel and length and date of stay. Travellers can choose from four-day/two-night or five-day/three-night packages, with prices based on twin share, from HK$4,490 at the Hyatt Regency or Pacific Islands Club; HK$4,190 at the Diamond Hotel; and HK$3,790 at the Ocean View Hotel. Valid dates are February 8-11, February 9-12, February 11-15, February 12-16 and February 15-18. Customers can also get a Saipan Pacific Islands Club day guest pass for HK$290, reduced from HK$460. The pass includes hotel transfers, buffet lunch and unlimited access to on-site sports facilities from 9 am to 5 pm. Tel: 2524 6178.

JOURNAL CODE: WPRW LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: FULLTEXT
WORD COUNT: 1059

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 /PRNewswire/ -- Skyjet (<http://www.skyjet.com>), the nation's first real-time online service for booking private business jets, today launched Personal Fleet(TM), the industry's premier travel package for on-demand charter business jets. Personal Fleet enables customers to build their own virtual fleet of business aircraft, based on their own criteria. Personal Fleet provides a customized, end-to-end travel solution, and includes preferred rate negotiation, a dedicated account manager, unlimited concierge services, and accelerated enrollment in the new Skyjet Rewards(TM) frequent traveler program. All these services and benefits are free of charge with an annual commitment of 50 hours of flying time.

According to Trevor Cornwell, Skyjet founder and chief executive officer, Personal Fleet is uniquely designed to respond to the travel needs of high-volume charter business jet customers -- without requiring any membership fees or up-front costs.

Chartering a Private Jet to the Caribbean: Not the Only Way to Fly ... But Definitely the Best

PR NEWSWIRE

December 18, 2000

JOURNAL CODE: WPRW LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: FULLTEXT
WORD COUNT: 1093

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 /PRNewswire/ -- As the mercury drops in North

America, images of white beaches and aquamarine seas beckon us to the islands of the Caribbean and Atlantic. For the luxury market, flying to the islands on a private jet is the ultimate travel experience.

According to Skyjet (<http://www.skyjet.com>), the nation's first real-time online service for booking private business jets, the islands are the number-one destination among those chartering small jets for leisure trips. In recent years, chartering private jets for both business and leisure travel has increased across the board. But there are special reasons why private jets make sense for island trips.

TEXT:

Business information is never as keenly sought, or as acutely required, as during tough trading periods. And the first half of 2003 was as challenging a period for travel-retail as the market has yet seen.

In this year's Database we attempt to address this shortfall with new sections, plus a new twist on some established parts of our annual publication. On pages 32-36, fresh data from Raven Fox's Consumer Insight joint venture with Horizon delivers a viewpoint from one element of the travel retail food chain where insight is often lacking: from the consumer. And in these pages, we go further than the traditional ranking of operators by sales alone. We feature in-depth information on the world's leading locations, including key business data that the market demands: duty-free and other types of retail sales, passenger numbers, commercial space and key developments. We have split the locations by sales channel for ease of use, and focused only on the top locations, which after all do most of the business worldwide.

US helicopter fractional-ownership company HeliFlite Shares plans to launch a block charter programme in a bid to stimulate sales. It operates two Bell 430 intermediate twins based at New York Newark and wants to add two more before expanding its operation to Florida.

The company is negotiating additional share sales, says president Bill Force, but needs the charter business to justify buying additional aircraft. He says the charter offering would be similar to the scheme under which Marquis Jet Partners resells blocks of hours on NetJets' fixed-wing fractional ownership fleet. This will cut the cost of entry into HeliFlite's programme.

"It is becoming painful and inefficient to fly commercial, and businesses know that," said McBride. "They attach a sense of value to getting the job done timely and to getting employees home. Charter is coming into its own, and there is a need to take it to the next level."

ABSTRACT:

The maintenance, repair and overhaul industry realizes a major factor in keeping clients and gaining new ones is to provide excellent customer support. Snecma Services is to expand its network with a factory for International Compressor Technologies and one for the Ceramic Coatings Center. Also focusing on customers is Steffen Harporth, CEO/president of FLS Aerospace (Denmark), who says the company will make its customer base stronger by focusing on customers instead of the product line, reducing life cycle costs, offering consistent standards and removing financial risks. Requests for modified passenger-to-freighter planes are rising. British Aerospace Aviation Services is increasing its A300B4 support operations into the US and developing its expertise and resources in Airbus maintenance at the plant in Florida. Lockheed Martin is also involved with modifying airplanes through the US use of the L-1011 TriStar conversion program. Expansion is important for companies to stay competitive. Rolls-Royce Aero Repair & Overhaul will continue to use expansion as a main factor in its corporate strategy, according to managing director Ian Lloyd. Its triumphs in the civil engine market contributed to its repair and overhaul unit, giving it a market share of more than 50% on its own products. For 1999, revenues are predicted to approach $1 bil. USAirways will construct a $604 mil maintenance centre at the Allegheny County Airport, while Southwest Airlines plans to build more hangar space at Love Field in Dallas, TX, at a cost of $15 mil.

Full text includes sidebars discussing how the Internet will change the maintenance, repair and overhaul industry, how Air France Industries is providing customized maintenance and repair services, and how Sogerma is preparing to stay competitive in the maintenance, repair and overhaul industry.

TEXT:

(Quality and customer support are the new industry watchwords) 1999 has been a get-up-and-go year for maintenance and engineering providers worldwide. A belated realisation that customer support could be the key to sustaining and developing new business has resulted in maintenance, repair and overhaul service providers stressing the importance of customer support as though it is something entirely new.

Bob Weiner, vice president, Pratt and Whitney Engine Services, told Interavia, "I am a great believer in efficient customer support. In the past it has to be said that P&W was not a leader in this discipline, but today we are a much more customer focused company."

The terror attacks of 11 September have changed the face of aviation forever and the corporate travel market is no exception. A variety of services has sprung up to meet the demands of executives who want to avoid the hassle of flying conventionally but have seen their corporate travel budgets shrink.

Booking an executive jet is about to become as easy as buying a ticket for a low-cost airline with the launch of a new service by Bombardier Flexjet Europe to be called Skyjet Europe, which will allow customers to book flat-rate fares according to destination, as on conventional airline services.

New Orleans -- National Business Aviation Association Shandong Airlines Rainbow Jet Co. Ltd., Subic International Air Charter Inc. and Jet Asia Limited named launch operators Bombardier Aerospace announced today the launch of Bombardier Flexjet Asia, a charter network that will facilitate access to business jets based in Asia and expand the company's worldwide portfolio of business jet solutions.

"Bombardier has a strong position in Asia, having been the long-time market leader," stated Peter Edwards, president, Bombardier Business Aircraft. "Our charter network, which will offer executives and government officials a first-rate, reliable and straightforward travel solution in Asia, exemplifies our leadership and commitment to this market." "Business aviation is growing in Asia and - following six months of market testing - we have confirmed that customers in the region and those also visiting from abroad have a strong desire for efficient and convenient travel solutions. North American and European business jet users are requesting, in growing numbers, that we provide an Asian service equivalent to the standards they currently enjoy," observed Clifford Dickman, president, Bombardier Flexjet, Bombardier Aerospace.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 /PRNewswire/ -- Skyjet (<http://www.skyjet.com>), the nation's first real-time online service for booking private business jets, today launched Personal Fleet(TM), the industry's premier travel package for on-demand charter business jets. Personal Fleet enables customers to build their own virtual fleet of business aircraft, based on their own criteria. Personal Fleet provides a customized, end-to-end travel solution, and includes preferred rate negotiation, a dedicated account manager, unlimited concierge services, and accelerated enrollment in the new Skyjet Rewards(TM) frequent traveler program. All these services and benefits are free of charge with an annual commitment of 50 hours of flying time.

According to Trevor Cornwell, Skyjet founder and chief executive officer, Personal Fleet is uniquely designed to respond to the travel needs of high-volume charter business jet customers -- without requiring any membership fees or up-front costs.

Chartering a Private Jet to the Caribbean: Not the Only Way to Fly ... But Definitely the Best

PR NEWSWIRE

December 18, 2000

JOURNAL CODE: WPRW LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: FULLTEXT

WORD COUNT: 1093

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 /PRNewswire/ -- As the mercury drops in North America, images of white beaches and aquamarine seas beckon us to the islands of the Caribbean and Atlantic. For the luxury market, flying to the islands on a private jet is the ultimate travel experience.

According to Skyjet (<http://www.skyjet.com>), the nation's first real-time online service for booking private business jets, the islands are the number-one destination among those chartering small jets for leisure trips. In recent years, chartering private jets for both business and leisure travel has increased across the board. But there are special reasons why private jets make sense for island trips.

WALTHAM, Mass.--Every report about delays on commercial airlines, congestion at the nation's airports, or an outbreak of air rage, brings a smile to the face of Robert McBride, president of FlightTime.com.

"It is becoming painful and inefficient to fly commercial, and businesses know that," said McBride. "They attach a sense of value to getting the job done timely and to getting employees home. Charter is coming into its own, and there is a need to take it to the next level."

NEW ORLEANS, La.--Although the first jet will not enter service until 2006, Raytheon Aircraft Co. already has 97 orders for its all-new business jet, the Hawker 450.

The news comes the day after Raytheon Aircraft said it will add the new light, mid-sized jet to its fleet of business aircraft. The planes will be priced between $7.8 million and $9 million each. The company made the announcement Tuesday at the National Business Aviation Association's 53rd annual trade show in New Orleans.

New Orleans, Louisiana -- Skyjet, a Washington, D.C.-based company

now operating as a wholly owned subsidiary of Bombardier Aerospace, will debut its new web site (www.skyjet.com) to the business aviation community at the National Business Aviation Association 53rd Annual Meeting & Convention in New Orleans.

"The addition of Skyjet to the Bombardier business aircraft family last June is significant; it is an exciting entry in the growing online charter segment of the industry and signals our support to the overall market," said Rob Gillespie, president, Bombardier Aerospace, Business Aircraft. "It expands our involvement in e-commerce and also exemplifies our commitment to introduce new services that allow our customers to do more," he added.

WASHINGTON - Fancy the next business trip in a private chartered jet? A US-based company which serves more than 5,000 airports in the US and around the globe has started a reverse auction system on the internet. The new web-based system for Skyjet .com, the MySkyjet auction feature, claims to offer the world's only real-time interent system for booking chartered planes by a system of bids . Travellers can bid for empty one-way travel route legs and new trips with specific travel dates. Travellers can also create their own trip itinerary, name their own price and allow charter operators to bid to deliver the trip. The company, through a network of operators, claims to have an on-demand fleet of more than 1,300 aircraft. <http://www.skyjet.com>
